

Mohamed Nimer [nimer@american.edu] is assistant professor at the School of International Service, American University, Washington, DC. He is director and professor of the Washington Semester Islam and World Affairs program. Dr. Nimer has also taught religion and politics worldwide, cross cultural communication and contemporary Arab world. His research interests include Muslim politics and development, Muslims in the West, and Islamic movements. Among his recent publications “Americanizing Islamism” (The American Interest, July/August, 2011), “The Muslim Brotherhood in America: Citizens with Foreign Attachments?” (Middle East Policy, Vol. 17, No. 4, 2010) and “Charting the Hamas Charter Changes” (Insight Turkey, Vol. 11, No. 4, 2009). He is a contributing author to World Muslim Demographic Futures Project of the Pew Forum on Religion and Public Life. Among his other publications is an edited volume entitled, Islamophobia and Anti-Americanism: Causes and Remedies (Amana Publications, 2007). Dr. Nimer conducted field research in the Middle East and speaks Arabic fluently. His earlier writings include “Backtracking on Democratization in Egypt: Implications for US Policy” (Council on American-Islamic Relations, 1996). Dr. Nimer earned his Ph.D in political science from the University of Utah in 1995.