

Mucahit Bilici [mbilici@jjay.cuny.edu] is assistant professor of sociology at John Jay College, City University of New York, NY. He received his Ph.D (2008) from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI. His dissertation, “Finding Mecca in America: American Muslims and Cultural Citizenship,” was one of four finalists for the American Sociological Association’s 2009 Dissertation Award. His areas of interest are social theory, cultural sociology and phenomenology. He has done ethnographic research on the cultural settlement of Islam in the US and the tension between Muslim life and American cultural forms. He has published work on conversion out of Islam, Muslim ethnic comedy in America, and Islam in Turkey. He is working on a book manuscript dealing with the cultural citizenship of Muslim communities and the emergence of a distinct American Islam.