

Noor Mohammad Osmani [abusajid@iiu.edu.my] was born in Bangladesh in 1966. He obtained his Ph.D (2002) from the Department of Qur'an and Sunnah studies, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, and his MA in Islamic revealed knowledge and heritage from the same university. He earned both his BA (Honours) and MA from Islamic University Bangladesh. He also received a postgraduate diploma in Islamic studies from the Darul Ihsan University of Bangladesh. Dr. Osmani served as lecturer (1996-2000) in IIUM's Department of Qur'an and Sunnah studies, and assistant professor since 2003. He taught courses in such disciplines as Qur'an and Sunnah studies, Fiqh, Usuluddin, and general courses on reflections on prophetic history, Islamic worldview, and Islamic civilization. He published numerous articles in reputed Journals and magazines and presented many papers at international conferences and seminars. His recent publications include: Civilizational Clash or Co-existence: an Islamic Perspective; Redefining 'Asabiyyah for a Muslim Unity; Phenomenology of Hope and Despair: a Qur'anic Perspective; and Ahsanul-Qasas fi'l Qur'an: Muqaranah bi-l Isra'iliyyat [the most beautiful narrative of the Qur'an in comparison to biblical texts]. Dr. Osmani served as foreign expert for the University of the Punjab, Pakistan. He evaluated 19 Ph.D dissertations from many reputed universities in Pakistan. He reviewed numerous papers for publication in the research journal, Al-Qalam, University of the Punjab. He is an editorial board member of Al-Idab Journal of Shaykh Zayed Islamic Centre, Peshawar, Pakistan. He has translated various documents and course outlines from Arabic into English, and vice versa. In addition to English and Arabic, he is fluent in Urdu and Bengali (native speaker).