

Umar A. Oseni [umaroseni@gmail.com] is currently a postdoctoral fellow in the Islamic legal studies program at Harvard Law School, Cambridge, MA, and an advocate of the Supreme Court of Nigeria. Dr. Oseni received his LL.B. (Hons) in common and Islamic law from the University of Ilorin, Nigeria, and obtained his Masters in comparative law (with distinction) and Ph.D from the International Islamic University Malaysia. His doctoral research was on the legal framework for Alternative Dispute Resolution in courts with Shari'ah jurisdiction in Nigeria, Malaysia and Singapore. Dr. Oseni served as a resource person on Islamic microfinance at the UN-Habitat Workshop on Land Development in Islam jointly organized by the UN-Habitat, International Islamic University Malaysia, and the University of East London. He has also been invited as a resource person at a Pre-Conference workshop organized by the Asia Business Forum (March 22, 2010) where he spoke on "Islamic Microfinance and Waqf in Land Development" at JW Marriott Hotel, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. His areas of interest include contemporary issues in Islamic law; conflict management and avoidance; alternative dispute resolution; arbitration, comparative law; Islamic finance and international commercial arbitration. He is a member of the following professional organizations: Mediators Beyond Borders; Young International Arbitration Group (YIAG), London Court of International Arbitration; Nigerian Bar Association; Association of Professional Negotiators and Mediators; and Mediation & Conflict Management Group.